foreword

ONE more spring follows another winter, and one more spring brings with it commencement and another issue of The GRIST.

It is the earnest hope of the 1938 board that your book this year will become more than an illustrated catalog — will be kept as your personal history of the year just ended. For most of us, days crowded days, and events piled upon events, leaving behind a jumbled pot-pourri of worn programs, dog-eared snapshots, and hazy memories. We of the staff have attempted to sort over these relics and preserve in an orderly manner the memories of the events they served.

Just as the events of the Rhode Island State College year linked together to form a connected drama, so also do these pages follow one upon the other, tied together by the same central theme.

The setting is laid, the actors named, and the action depicted. Let us raise the curtain.

Message

THE story is told of a king who asked his wise men to tell him what he should know of human experience in order that he might be a good ruler. After a life devoted to study, the wise men replied that all they knew could be found in the statement: "Man is born; he lives; and he dies." And only Religion can add the promise "... to be born again."

As generations of men have gone through this cycle from birth to rebirth, they have left behind them memories which Time preserves. In such an experience, you and I have shared, even though days crowded upon each other so fast that tomorrows became yesterdays almost before we recognized them as todays. All too soon we rush on to the end — which is simply another beginning.

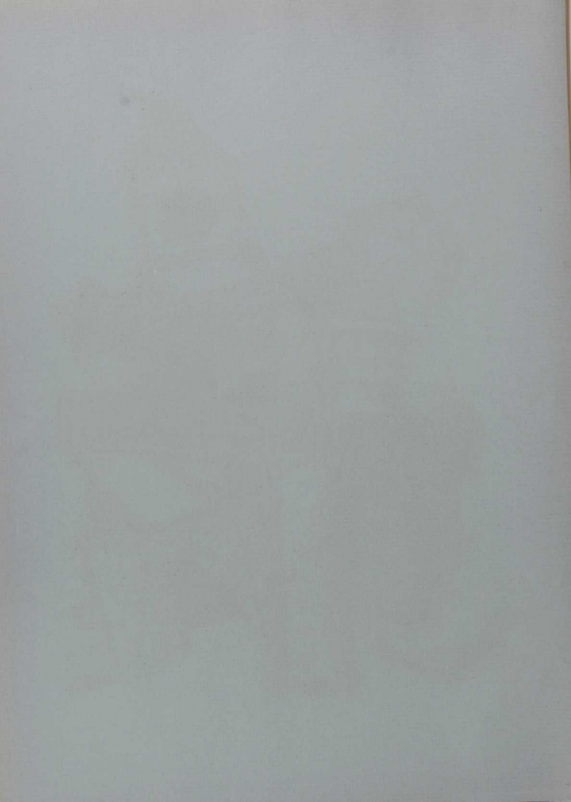

The time has come for you to move on without me. Like one who stands on the shore while a crew takes a ship to sea, I bid you Godspeed. May you find your port of destiny wherever your life can be most useful. May you know the happiness of labor you enjoy, the satisfaction of work well done, and the sweetness of striving for those you love and who love you. May you be worthy of those with whom you live and die and of the God who can give you rebirth.

ENTERING THE CAMPUS

We have lived the major portion of our college life on the campus of Rhode Island State College. In this simple declaration is contained a multitude of scenes linked together in the greatest pageant of them all — the pageant that was the college in 1938.

In the succeeding pages we have attempted to catch a bit of the artistry, a bit of the natural beauty that have blended to form the setting for our college life. On the following half-dozen pages are reproduced scenes about the campus. No photograph can completely portray this setting — it can only stimulate memories of the campus as we knew it in 1938.

President's Message

TO THE CLASS OF 1938:

SOMEHOW, sometime, somewhere right must conquer might; good, evil, or what is there to hope for? Not until millions have died to preserve the sanctity of the Golden Rule and to perpetuate the philosophy of the Sermon on the Mount will there again be a modicum of security and stability in the world. Our chosen, as well as self-appointed, leaders stand helplessly facing the cataclysm of disintegrating human values. The integrity of contracts, the inviolability of treaties, the protection of minority races, death for a principle—what has become of all these in the face of a corporate entity that can do no wrong! Personal responsibility to one's creator is a factor of control for the individual; but what is there to control the state which has become the escape mechanism for berserks, mountebanks, and messianics!

As an undergraduate in college, I wrote an essay on the Divine Right of Kings. My triumphant conclusion was that "might makes right" had long since passed from the ken of man. How barren in the face of the present! For the divine right of the king there has been substituted that of the state. The dictator has arrogated unto himself the power and abrogated its origin in divinity. It is easier to be a dictator than a collaborator, a big I than a big We; it is easier to drive your fellow human beings, if you hold the gun, than to lead them. But remember that the test of a real man is his ability to get things done willingly.

I can make no better wish for you than that you may find the after-college world a place where you can practice the Golden Rule without fear or interference.

THE EXTENSION SERVICE

Second Row: Durham, Murray, Johnson, Coggeshall, Hewitt

Third Row: Hart, Stuart, Gordon, Shaw, Bond, Tudor, Kinney

To carry the work of the college to the people of the state is the task of this large group. Sponsored by both the federal and the state governments, this service carries to Rhode Islanders unable to attend classes at the college, description and often demonstration of advances in agriculture and home economics. Lectures, demonstrations, radio programs, and pamphlets are sponsored for general information. Specific problems are taken up individually with residents of the state.

THE EXPERIMENT STATION

Second Row: Shutak, Hirsch, Hart, W. Adams, Delaplane, Allard, G. E. Adams, Gilbert, Odland, Lea, Desyck, Champlin, Willard, Stene

Third Row: DeFrance, Stuart, Gordon, Bond, Gee, V. Hendricks, Kenyon, Perry, Crandall, Fowler, Stanton, Wright

Constantly working out new techniques and improving the old is the Experiment Station. This group, another state-federal project, conducts agricultural research, answering many puzzling problems for the farmers of the state.

Nor is their work limited just to the State of Rhode Island. National fame has accrued to the college because of the work done on that most common of cultivated plants, grass. Familiar to all is the checkerboard of experimental lawns that this project has developed on the Plains Farm.

THE OFFICE STAFF

Second Row: Geaber, Hennessey, Toth, Peterson, Nichols, Paradis, Nimmo

Worthy of inclusion in any complete record of the college year is this important section of the college personnel. Unsung and little noticed when all is well, these women make up the secretariat. But just let something go wrong, and they are loudly in demand. For to them goes most of the responsibility for the business routine of Rhode Island State College.

STUDENTS

The stage is cold and empty without the characters. The pageant of the college in 1938 cast over twelve hundred actors. The more permanent of these people, almost a part of the setting, have been shown in the preceding section. In the pages to come is shown the more changeable cast—the students.

All played varying roles. Some had only “bits,” while at the opposite extreme were those who enjoyed the full glare of the spotlights. But the story of 1938 is not a simple narrative—like a pageant it was made up of many episodes, each with its heroes, heroines and villains. Every student has been a lead, in this sense—if no better than in the episode of his own life.

For one-fifth of this group the final curtain has rung down, the last episode completed. The Seniors accordingly are specially featured, but everyone has a place in the ensuing pages.

All of these people have to live somewhere. And Kingston is indeed cosmopolitan in this regard, even to the trailer colony nestled beside Bliss Hall. Fraternities, sororities, dorms, boarding houses, apartments, houses — all spell home to some one.

In the section that follows may be seen some of these groups that lived together, at least from Monday morning to Saturday noon. These people saw each other in the cold light of dawn — and they still continued to live harmoniously throughout the college year. Nothing can be a finer commentary on student life at Rhode Island State College than this statement. On succeeding pages are depicted these groups and the places each have chosen to call home — the fraternities, sororities, and clubs.

Rushing is the biggest problem that confronts the Polygon. Each year these representatives of all the fraternities oversee the fall intensive pledging campaigns. As exemplified by the conduct of the rush period, efficiency and impartiality have marked the activities of this body since its founding in 1911. In keeping with the policy of fairness to all has been the system of rotation of officers among the Greeks, with an entirely new set each year.

THESE CO-EDS OVERSEE SORORITIES

"When Greek meets Greek . . ." is an old proverb that is equally applicable to the women's Greek-letter societies. But, as the Polygon averts the proverbial war in the men's division, so does the Pan-Hellenic Association here. The deferred rushing of the co-eds is managed with the aid of this group, which is composed of two representatives from each of the four sororities. In addition to the more strictly governmental activities of this body, it annually conducts a dance in the spring.

The Brick Dorm was first opened to women students this past fall. It is a large and thoroughly modern building.

Like the building, Brick Dorm Association is both large and up-to-date. The more-than-100 residents, under the guidance of Miss Mary Evans Chase, have set up an efficient system. The women themselves handle most of the problems confronting such a large group living together. Aside from the usual officers, elected quarterly, quiet monitors, fire monitors, and even doorbell-answerers are provided.

That freshman women too, may gain experience in dormitory administration is the underlying purpose of this organization in the freshman dorm. Under the direct guidance of Miss Doris Cumming and Miss Anna Blackinton, these first-year women are largely self-sufficient in the routine handling of the problems of living together.

The planned rotation and turnover of offices each quarter insures to all an opportunity for some responsibility. This feature and others similar to the organization of the Brick Dorm have succeeded in welding together a united group of yearling women. Judged by their enthusiastic work in the various activities of the college, the first year of a dorm exclusively for freshmen has been quite successful. And this in spite of the fact that these women are all either pledged or about to pledge some sorority and be completely scattered next year.

Not all of the students are fortunate enough to live on campus. Some live close by; others prefer to commute daily from their homes. To be able to participate more fully in all activities, and to realize more of the spirit of college, the commuters have organized clubs. The women's group has a fine room in the Home Economics Building, now in the process of being commodiously outfitted, in which they hold their regular business meetings.

GREEN ELEVEN FINISHES WELL

RHODE ISLAND opened its 1937 football campaign with its hopes anything but bright. Graduation the previous June took a heavy toll, and when the Rams faced Maine at Orono, there were but three veteran regulars in the lineup.

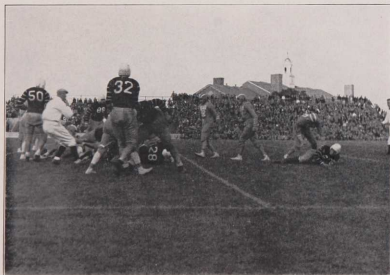

Despite the inexperienced material and the scarcity of capable reserves, the Rams gave a good account of themselves throughout the season. Rhode Island won three games, tied one, and lost four, but its greatest margin of defeat was only ten points. Two of the losses were by a single touchdown, and the fourth was by a safety. Victories were registered over Tufts, Massachusetts State, and Providence College.

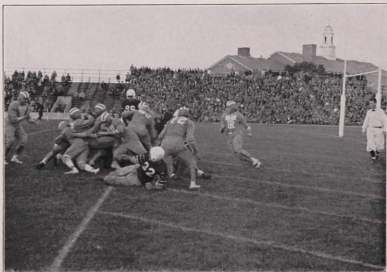

The Rams closed their gridiron season in brilliant fashion when they turned back Providence College for the second year before a large night-game crowd at the Cranston Stadium. Against the Brown University Bears early in the season, the Rams played probably their best game of the year, but were forced to give way before the superior man-power of the Bruins in the late stages of the game.

The outstanding men for the Rams during the season were Captain Bob Albanese, Cliff Pace, Rene Duranleau, and Tony DePetrillo. Several others flashed at different times, but this quartet played best over the course of the schedule. Albanese and Duranleau were the offensive mainstays in the backfield, while Pace and DePetrillo played a consistently sound game in the line. Albanese led the Ram scorers with four touchdowns while Pace was easily the best man on the defense.

THE MENTOR CARRIES ON

With a broad grin on his face, Coach Frank W. Keaney, Rhode Island's veteran coach who is ending his eighteenth year of athletic service here, tells the baseball boys it is high time that practice was starting. The Mentor is the first man down to the field and the last one to leave. He's one of the best coaches anywhere, so here's to the Mentor.

SEVEN SENIORS TURN OUT FOR SQUAD

Robert Albanese

ROBERT ALBANESE

Bob Albanese, although only a junior, captained the Ram footballers the past year. Albanese, a regular for two years, led the varsity in scoring with 24 points. He is a hard runner and a good defensive man.

Albert Cupello

JOSEPH RINOSKI

The injury jinx was also unkind to Joe Rinoski. Rinoski, who started several games in his junior year, suffered a knee injury at the opening of the 1937 season that put him on the shelf for some time. However, Joe, a deadly tackler and a good offensive man, saw much service when he did return to the team.

ALBERT CUPELLO

A big, well-built fellow, Al Cupello was hampered by injuries. He won a starting post against Brown University this fall and played a good game. He has seen considerable action in a Rhode Island uniform in the last four years.

JOHN CHRISTY

A football guard, John Christy suffered knee injuries during his sophomore and senior years that kept him from service for a considerable length of time. He started his last game as a Ram against Providence College.

WALTER DOLL

Walt Doll was also a football guard. He seldom missed a practice session and was one of the first men on the practice field during his entire four years. He saw plenty of action in his four years as a member of Rhode Island teams.

RAYMOND BARNES

Ray Barnes was on the Rhode Island squad for two years, and that time impressed all the coaches and players with his earnestness and liking for the game. He showed his courage throughout the two years. He was an excellent defensive man.

ANTHONY DiPETRILLO

Tony DiPetrillo was the only senior letterman when the season opened. A steady and dependable player, DiPetrillo was a distinct power in the Ram line. He played tackle and guard at various times during the season.

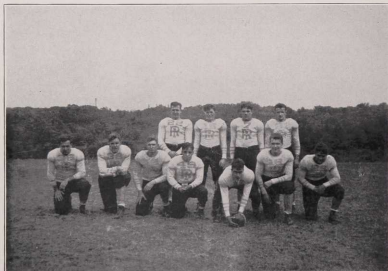

Harry Pattee

HARRY PATTEE

Another veteran of four years' service, Pattee saw considerable service as an end. A steady plugger, Pattee worked hard in the practice sessions, was rewarded with a letter.

FROSH SWEEP GRID OPPONENTS

THE most successful Freshman football season at Rhode Island State came to a close on Armistice Day when the Ramlets defeated the highly regarded Brown Freshmen at Brown Field by a 20 to 13 score.

The victory over the Bruin Cubs enabled the first-year team to finish its season undefeated with seven straight triumphs to its credit.

Led by "Duke" Abbruzzi, whose excellent play throughout the season stamps him as one of the best football men ever to don a Freshman uniform, the Ramlets make the future outlook at Rhode Island exceedingly bright. Another Ramlet who impressed with his football ability was Warner Keaney, son of the head coach. Other promising players include Nick Orlando, Angelo Mantenuto, Frank Zammarchi, Russ McNamara, Larry Gates, Maurie Flynn, and Mike Franchuk.

HARRIERS EXTEND WINNING STREAK

Coach Fred Tootell continues to produce unbeaten cross country teams. This year's harriers stretched Rhode Island's undefeated string to 30 dual meets extending over a seven-year period.

After outspeeding five dual-meet foes, the Ram harriers went on to capture the New England Intercollegiate cross country title for the second consecutive year. In the I. C. 4-A test, the Rams took sixth place in a field of 19 teams representing the pick of the American colleges and universities.

Eckhart

Three seniors will be graduated from this championship aggregation, including Capt. William Eckhart, Roger Richardson, and Alexander Brown.

Richardson

Eckhart has had a highly successful cross country career at State. Discovered by Coach Tootell when he was attending a physical education class, Eckhart was ordered out for freshman cross country and earned his numerals. The following year he reported for the varsity, and was the first man home in the first time trials. He was never beaten by a teammate in intercollegiate competition.

Richardson and Brown have been mainstays of the Ram teams for the past three years, and their losses, coupled to Eckhart's, will leave a considerable gap to be filled next fall.

John McCormick, showing great improvement with every race, rated as the second man on the team at the close of the season. George Lyons, Ted Clarke, John Haufe, Henry Tereshkow, and Ted Dykstra were other members of the team who helped keep the Ram record intact.

FROSH UNBEATEN DURING SEASON

Second Row: Smith, McNally, Jenkins, Hall, Pansar, Creech, Coach Erwin

Rhode Island's Freshman cross country team was another one of the first-year class' excellent sports outfits, closing its season undefeated in four dual engagements, and then taking the New England Freshman Intercollegiate title.

The Ramlets, showing a well-balanced team, swept by their dual meet opponents with very little trouble, nearly always taking the maximum number of points available. The season's finale was the Freshman Intercollegiates, and one of the Ramlets' dual meet victims almost nosed them out for first-place honors, Rhode Island taking the title by a one-point margin, 71 to 72.

Several excellent distance runners were on the cross country squad, and Lester Nichols led the field home in every race. Other good runners included George Gamache, Allen Pansar, and Robert Dixon.

Expanding their 1937 schedule, the Women's Hockey team played nine games, coming through with seven victories. The team was exceptionally fast and hard-hitting, scoring a total of 39 points as compared to the 17 points scored during the seven games of 1936. Rhode Island was victorious every time until they travelled to Pennsylvania, that state where hockey players are trained from the cradle. On this trip Rhode Island defeated Mt. St. Joseph, but was beaten by Beaver and Drexel. The hockey fans of the campus will remember the Beaver game of 1936, played in Kingston, as a game of speed, ability, and sportsmanship. The game played in Pennsylvania this year was a repetition of the one held here. Each year Coach Jo Russell has built a stronger and faster team, with the hopes that in seasons to come, she will be able to invade even the hockey territory of Pennsylvania with success.

THE BAND PLAYS . . .

It's a big day when we play Brown. Everyone cooperates to produce a really big affair. One of the chief adjuncts of this annual fall occasion is the Marching Band whose colorful, blue-and-white turnout symbolizes the Rhody spirit of all participants.

But these men are not just glory seekers. It is often a far cry from this high point of glamour to their loyal playing for a handful of students in a drenching Kingston down-pour. For the bandmen are a dependable crew and maybe seen playing heartily at all but the most distant of football games.

Little glory accrues to the band. The team's the thing, at football games. Yet season after season these men may be found heading up the college spirit. And for meritorious service they receive a key in June.

... THE CROWD CHEERS

Front Row: Barrows, Greene, Gammons, Scott, Upper, Popovich, Professor Tudor
Second Row: Lavallee, LeBoeuf, Walcott, Thornton, Armbrust, Girouard, Hawes, Penney, Sawyer

"All right, the Big O Cheer. Make it big! Ready, one, two, three —" This might be heard booming forth from the large blue megaphones at any football match. Nor would any gridiron picture be complete without these promotors of pep and noise. A great part of football is the crowd, and it is the business of these people to control and mix in that huge dynamic mass known tersely as "the spectators."

This year, a new enthusiasm was given this loyal bunch with a blanket tax appropriation and the zealous leadership of Mr. William J. Tudor and Joe Scott. With this to give impetus, a record number of the leather-lunged enthusiasts of both sexes turned to with a will to the task of organizing and directing the Rhody Spirit. Several scintillating rallies were put on with their aid. To make this body even more effective in the coming years, it is planned to outfit them in specially-designed costumes — one more bright insert in the colorful mosaic that is Ram football.

BIBLE HELPS ORIENT FROSH

Herewith began the real initiation of the Frosh into college life. The sugar-coated pill that is Freshman Week was soon to wear off. The ruddy glow of fraternity rushing passed by quickly. Gradually the incoming freshmen became molded to the college pattern, and to a large measure the Freshman Bible became an increasingly important reference. For it was only in this little handbook that the yearlings could obtain a dispassionate evaluation of all the college.

The Freshman Bible is published annually by a staff chosen out of the present senior class. It is the purpose of the book to acquaint the freshmen with the entire set-up of the college and to act as a reference book throughout their four years.

Meeting with this body, errant frosh were firmly set back on the path of law and order. The first brush with this body was usually sufficient to teach the yearlings that to conform to the rules is the easiest way of living with fellow collegians.

Newly inaugurated by the Sachems this year was the Student Tribunal, made up of two students from each class appointed to enforce the freshman rules as stated in the Freshman Bible. Punishment for not adhering to the rules was prescribed by the Sachems and supported by the administration. If freshmen failed to abide by the decision of the Tribunal, the matter was referred to the Sachems, and, as a last resort, to the administration.

But now the restraints were loosened somewhat, and the frosh had their first opportunity for self-expression. ## COURTMEN REPEAT N. E. TITLE

Rhode Island's basketball five continued its sway over New England court opponents for the second straight year as it compiled one of the most imposing records ever turned in by a Ram quintet. Heading the list of accomplishments was the winning of the New England Conference title with an undefeated slate for the second year. Rhode Island also gained the State collegiate title with an unblemished record against Brown and Providence College.

The Rams dropped but two games in a 21-game schedule against New England's ranking court teams to add this section's best games-won-and-lost record to their achievements.

Rhode Island lost game number one in their third start of the season as Boston University, playing one of its best games, handed a 10-point defeat to the off-form Keaneymen. Eight consecutive wins were marked up by the Rams before they lost their second contest of the year to Massachusetts State by six points on the Amherst floor. The season closed with a nine-game win streak.

The Rams gained much favorable notice throughout the East because of their high-gear scoring attack, their imposing record, and their colorful play. They were seriously considered as New England representatives to the intercollegiate basketball tournament at the Madison Square Garden in March, but no New England team was picked for tournament play.

David Partington

Chet Jaworski, scoring 38 points in the season's finale against Providence College, boosted his total mark to 441 points to become probably the highest scoring courtman in the nation. He topped the high mark of Hank Luisetti, Stanford University's ace forward, by 22 points. Jaworski's game average was exactly 21 points.

His three-year total is now 951 points, which is better than the all-time four-year total for Rhode Island established two years ago by John Francis Martin. Jaworski also broke his own season scoring record of 301 points set last year. He now holds the freshman and varsity high scoring marks.

Chet Jaworski

Edward Tashjian

Jaworski was selected as All-New England Conference forward for the second consecutive year. He led the New England scorers with 158 points in eight games.

Three regulars of the 1937-38 court team played their last basketball game wearing the Rhode Island colors against the Friars of Providence College. The three men are Edward Tashjian, David Partington, and Morris Fabricant. Tashjian was a unanimous choice with Chet Jaworski for the forward berths in the All-New England Conference selections. Fabricant was chosen for the second team at guard, and Partington was accorded honorable mention. Tashjian, playing in 20 games, pressed Jaworski for high scoring honors throughout the season.

YEARLINGS PILE UP THE POINTS

Second Row: Keeley, Nelson, Zammarchi, Rockwell, DeCesare, Tracy, Hey*

The Freshman court five established a new yearling scoring mark when it tallied 829 points while winning 10 games of the 14 games played. The team average was 59.2 points per game which exceeded last year's varsity high scoring average of 57 points. Two of the four games were lost to the Brown Freshmen. The Ramblers broke even with Bryant College and Connecticut State Freshmen.

Fred Conley was the team's leading scorer with 208 points for a game average of nearly 15 points. He missed by one point of tying Chet Jaworski's freshman high mark of 209 points, in the same number of games, established two years ago. Other outstanding players were Louis Abbruzzi, Warner Keaney, Charlie Harrington, and Mike Franchuk.

THEY PACED THE NATION'S FINEST

Front Row: J. Hines, Lord, Cuddy, Holt

Second Row: Coach Erwin, Conley, McCormick, Clarke, Hogg, Morrill, Coach Tootell

Rhode Island's indoor track outfit, with the one-mile and two-mile teams seeing the most action, completed a highly successful season that saw the Rams gain a good share of national recognition. The competition closed with the I. C. 4-A meet in New York, and Rhode Island took seventh place against the country's finest track teams. The Ram total was just two points out of third place, and was a good indication of the close fight that was made before the places were gained by any team.

In the season's opener, the Prout games in Boston, the mile-relay quartet outsped Boston College and New York University in 3:27.6, excellent time for the first meet. The two-mile team also competed, but an official's error helped bring about the downfall of the Tootell-men.

The mile four placed third behind Georgetown and Williams in the Millrose meet while Stan Holt, an invited entry, took third in the Millrose 880. The Rams ran behind Fordham in the B. A. A. games with Williams third. Ed Singsen captured second place in the pole vault in this meet.

In the K. of C. games in Providence, the mile team lost a dual engagement to Manhattan. Carle Morrill, running an excellent race, shared first place honors with Stripling of N. Y. U. in a special 600-yard run, and Singsen, vaulting 13 feet 6 inches, took second in the pole vault.

The mile relay team outran Colgate and Boston College in 3:24 to take its New York A. C. mile test. The two-mile outfit was Rhode Island's relay representative in the Columbus Council K. of C. games in New York, and it added further laurels to the Ram indoor season by taking the event in the fast time of 7:51.1. The Madison Square Garden record for the distance is 7:50.7. Singen gained second place in the pole vault.

The Rams finished in fifth place in the National A. A. U. championships in New York, a highly creditable showing. Folwartshny took first and Dave Warren, a senior in his first competition, gained fourth in the 35-pound weight event; Stan Holt was fourth in a fast 1000-metres run; Singen shared a third place tie in the pole vault; and the mile-relayers finished fourth.

The mile quartet, composed at different times of Dana Conley, Frank Lord, George Cuddy, Carle Morrill, and Stan Holt, had an excellent record against the fastest relay outfits in every meet they entered. Conley, Morrill, Hines, and Holt ran legs under 51 seconds.

The two-mile team, in its first season of competition, set a new college record of 7:51.1 and acquitted itself nobly against stiff competition. The team consisted of John McCormick, Ted Clarke, Morrill, and Holt. Holt had the best time with a 1:55 while Morrill was close behind with 1:55.5.

CRUSADERS BLANK FROSH RELAYERS

Dixon, Black, Gosling, Young, Gamache

The Freshman indoor relay team engaged in three meets during the winter season, two in Boston and one in Providence. The Ramlets failed to win any of these meets, but during the course of the season they stamped themselves as excellent competitors. Three times they finished second to the Holy Cross Freshmen, but each time the margin was very close.

In the B. A. A. games held in Boston, the Ramlet quartet was second in a four-team field. The Crusader Pups edged the Ramlets in the very fast freshman time of 3:27.9, much faster than many of the varsity races on the same program. Rhode Island finished ahead of Boston College.

The Prout games found the Ramlets again trailing the Cross first-year team, but the time was nearly the fastest of the evening, only one varsity team being able to beat it. Following the Ramlets came Boston College and Northeastern. The time was 3:27.

The Crusader made the count three straight over the State Freshmen in a dual meet in the Knights of Columbus games at Providence, the final meet on the yearling schedule.

Bob Dixon, Herb Gosling, Bob Black, and Dunbar Young comprised the relay four.

SHARPSHOOTERS RATED SIXTH IN N. E.

Receding slightly from the days of Hearst Trophy winners, the Rifle Team landed squarely in the middle of the New England ratings this year. With the national ranking still unannounced, little doubt is expressed but that the team will land in the first division here. Wentworth and Ball were the two seniors on this team, with Posner, a sophomore, assisting Ball in the leading scoring roles.

Next year's hopes seen bright with the coming up of a freshman team that handily blanked its sole opponent, Connecticut, on two successive occasions. The yearling sharpshooters are Banfield, Buivid, Heffernan, Jones, Stene, and Weinrich.

Under the veteran tutelage of Sergeant Friel, devotees of this branch of sport work long hours on the small bore range each week. Any afternoon they may be heard ping-pong away in the basement of the gym. Many of their matches are telegraph or mail matches, in which each team shoots its home course, sending in the targets for scoring; other matches feature the actual competition of shoulder-to-shoulder shooting. And for these competitions the men have organized the Rifle Club, with regularly elected officers to handle the business of the organization.

Building up last year's succession of wins, in 1938 the Russlers continued their winning streak until three-fourths of the way through their schedule when they met defeat at the hands of Hafstrau College in New York University. It was a surprisingly successful season, for the majority of the games were played off the home court.

This year's squad was exceptionally large. There was a good freshman turnout for a week's preliminary practice before the 1937 varsity reported. Although the defense was weakened by graduation, Joey built up a combination as good if not better than last year.

SHE'S RUSSELL OF THE RUSSLERS

Since 1908 Rhode Island women have played basketball but only within the last eight years have they been at all outstanding. For the last six of those years, basketball has been under the tutelage of Joey Russell. She has built her team from a group playing six games to a team playing thirteen and victorious in eleven. This year Rhode Island women invaded New York and New Jersey rather successfully.

The development of women's hockey at Rhode Island has been wholly due to Joey's efforts. In 1931 she started with a squad so small that men students had to be pressed into service for practice periods. In 1937 she trained a squad of 25 picked from a group of 40 candidates. Because few women have played hockey before coming to Rhode Island, the strength of Joey's teams has been in the seniors, and each year she must build a new team. She has done an outstanding job, for the only defeats in hockey within the last two years have been at the hands of teams from the "hockey center," Philadelphia.

Her teams have had a spirit which has pulled them out of tight spots and has made them popular with officials. Outstanding referees of New England consider Joey one of the best coaches in this section.

Joey certainly has brought women students into prominence.

FACULTY BALL SCORES BIG HIT

With the greatest number of "uniques" to its credit of any campus dance this year, the second annual Faculty Ball also made history by netting a neat balance for the Sachems, who ran the dance. It was decided by the Sachems to make this occasion one which would linger long in the memory of the college. Nature helped by providing a blizzard. But the committee worked and secured three unique features; the first, and probably only, dance to ever be held in the Green Hall library reading room; the only formal this year banning corsages; and only campus dance to ever attract the Governor, Lieutenant-governor, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Director of Education, and two other members of the Board of Regents.

Class President Conley chairmanned the affair. The record ticket sale was tacked up by Sachems Moderator Christy. Class Treasurer Scott built up publicity. All of the Sachems sweated and strained transforming the reading room into a soft-lighted ballroom, and the loan-desk into an orchestra stand. Tommy Reynolds brought up his band from the south to furnish the rhythm.

SABRE MEETS BEAUTY AT MIL BALL

Second Row: Christy, Muenchinger, Masterson, Wentworth, Stene, Hastie, McKenna, Carragher, Feifert, Krohn Anderson, Henry, Scott

Clanking sabres, strains of martial music, and craning necks keynote the commissioning of the co-ed colonel at the annual Military Ball. Sponsored by the military department, under the active direction of Scabbard and Blade, this colorful dance is traditionally held in the gym on the eve of Washington's Birthday. Another feature of the pre-intermission ceremony is the tapping of Junior Officers for Scabbard and Blade.

Second Row: Mayhew, La Salle, Mowry, Chase, Masterson, Edmonds, Wilbour, MacKnight, K. Potter, Ward, Clarke
Third Row: Newman Arnold, Woodbury, Rosenvik, Hull, Sherman, Ryan, Hazard, Krohn, Lavallee

Winter nights are long and tedious. Phi Delta helps drive away boredom by making work for student play producers and providing entertainment for the remainder of the college. Composed entirely of students, this dramatic organization directs, produces, and casts from its own membership. This year The Queen's Husband was produced for the winter season.

Frosh Plays, a winter play, and the Junior Week play are annually produced by Phi Delta. The Rhody Revue is sponsored and directed by this organization. Members of merit are awarded keys at the annual banquet in spring.

CRAB APPLE ACCLAIMED FARCE HIT

The Rhode Island State College Players opened their season on January 12 with the production of Crab Apple by Theodore Packard. The production ran two nights, each night the parts being portrayed by two separate casts. The above shot was taken from the second performance. Crab Apple is a farce comedy of the type that meets with the approval of the student body. Each performance was a howling success, and both held the audience in a fit of laughter from the time the curtain opened until the final curtain fell. Both casts and Mrs. Rawlings are to be commended on their excellent interpretation of the parts.

Third Row: Darelus, Kenyon, Olson, W. Scott, Gustafson, Wood, Clark

Founded in 1892 as the Glee-Banjo Club, the Men's Glee Club is the oldest organization on the campus. In line with this tradition of age is the continuous record of excellence in the New England Intercollegiate Contests.

The club meets regularly on Monday evenings under the direction of Prof. Lee C. McCauley. Upperclassmen earn keys by regular attendance and by participation in the public performances for three years. The club well earned praise of its fine singing in the contest held in Boston this year.

Second Row: Sicilian, Gorton, Tingsley, Winsberg, Armstrong, Wickham, Bain, Richards, Leary, Thurber, Edmond
Third Row: Friedman, Stern, Palley, Underwood, Ray, Wilbour, Butler, Edwards, Axelson, Smith, Fowler, Pennoyer, Briggs

Complementing the organization of the men is the Woman's Glee Club. Hopeful Jenny Linds, prima donnas, and girls who simply enjoy singing gather for the weekly meetings in the Edwards Hall choral room. As an integral part of the A Capella Choir, these coeds do double duty in providing melodic lyrics for the college. Hartford, this year, brought applause from the critics for outstanding work in their division.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

In Math, one plus one equals two, but not so in Music. When the Women's Glee Club and the Men's Glee Club join, we have one organization that has brought much favorable notice to Rhode Island State College. The A Capella Choir was conceded first place by critics of the mixed group singing at Boston.

ORCHESTRA HELPS OUT WILLINGLY

Front Row: Axelson, Emery, Shore, McCauley, Alofsin, Glass, Tingsley

Second Row: Gornstein, M. Waltcher, Anderson, Weinrich, Kenyon, Peckham, Strain, Murphy

Not basking in the full glare of publicity so much as the other musical groups, the orchestra is not at all less important in the college music picture. These people meet regularly for rehearsals under the baton of Professor McCauley. They are a most obliging lot, contributing members or playing as a unit on any occasion, from the assemblies, and filling in, to their full time public concert. Often scarcely noticed, they may always be counted upon to fall to with a will upon demand.

THE STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

Helping provide for the moral and religious life of the college are these two organizations. It is their purpose to fill the spiritual void during the week, making the worship of one's God more than just Sunday church attendance. Nor is theology the sole concern of these groups; for, by means of interesting programs, social and intellectual life is encouraged.

First, in order of founding, is the Student Fellowship, open to students of every creed. Sunday evening programs at the Church House bring in outside speakers of general interest. Students gather there for an enjoyable evening of good fellowship, including an occasional supper, games, a good speaker, and worthwhile discussions.

THE CATHOLIC FORUM

Second Row: Kerwin, Donaldson, Cashman, Newman, Orlando

The companion organization, The Catholic Forum, was founded in 1936. It has grown and prospered in its two years of existence, conducting several outstanding projects this year.

To better carry out the various enterprises, the Forum is divided into the four class groups with separate officers. These officers form the executive committee, headed by the officers of the Senior group.

Regular meetings are held monthly for general discussion and to hear outside speakers. In addition to the regular meetings, dances, entertainment and a treasure hunt have been staged, which were open to all the college.

WRANGLERS DEBATE FULL SCHEDULE

Front Row: Carragher, Professor Brooks, Smith
Second Row: Mason, Woodbury, Barlow, Masterson

Well named is this group. For weeks, during long winter evenings, they contend among themselves, whipping cases into shape. Then they go out and debate similarly prepared teams from other colleges. Men's debating is a well organized activity, completely directed by this able body.

This year The Wranglers have debated: Brown University, Providence College, Detroit, Dartmouth, William and Mary College, Boston University, at home. On tours they debated Amherst, Boston, Connecticut, St. John's, Rutgers and several of the leading colleges in Virginia.

PORTIA CLUB GIVES WOMEN THE "SAY"

*Front Row: Hornby, Masterson, Mahler, Wickham, Livingstone
Second Row: Ferrazzolli, Belofsky, Arnold, Morrisette, Czubak*

A real artist was Portia, patroness of the women's debating organization; and like her, these namesakes come out surprisingly well in their task of exploding the opponent's case.

Exemplary of this skill at debate is the season's schedule, which included trips to New York and Boston, and home meetings with Maine, Bucknell, Middlebury, and Connecticut.

Grinding away into the wee small hours of the night, these people conspire to put out the weekly six pages of newsprint known as the BEACON. With pecking, banging, or dancing over the typewriter keys, activity reaches fever pitch late Tuesday night, to fall off in a brief flurry Wednesday noon as stories of the campus crystallize into Issue No. 27 of the BEACON.

Test tubes, beakers, flasks, graduates — these are the everyday tools of the members of this society. But they are not just laboratory moles, poring over weird apparatus and strange chemicals in some dark recess of Ranger Hall; they hold regular meetings with programs designed to discuss the more recent developments in Chemistry and to promote popular interest. Outstanding this year were the liquid air demonstration by Dr. Parks and a supper where all the food was cooked and served in the laboratory, with the regular chem equipment for utensils.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

Power plants, thermo, and the like have no terrors for this group, for they represent the front ranks in Mechanical Engineering. Founded in 1904 as the M. E. Society, this second oldest of the engineering societies has been a branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers for a decade. The larger body affords opportunity for hearing fellow engineers who have become expert in the profession. A well organized Employment Service and the Engineering Council for Professional Betterment are perquisites of membership in the national organization.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR CIVIL ENGINEERS

Whenever the weather permits, some of the members of this society may be seen with transit and chain engrossed in the task of mapping and remapping the quadrangle and adjacent campus. Bad weather brings on discussion of strength, thermo, hydraulics and kindred obstacles on the rough path to a C.E. degree. But dreams of giant bridges, huge skyscrapers, or unending roadways must be pleasant prospects indeed, for every year new freshmen sign up, and every year new faces adorn the transits and chains on the campus. Added inducement is given members of this society, which affiliated with the national in 1932, by its fine program of field trips and professional speakers.

Oldest of the Engineering societies, the Rhode Island State College Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers was founded in 1898. Since that time, students in Electrical Engineering have gathered in the regular meetings to hear prominent men in this field. In this the national organization has helped by making available men of national importance.

Youngest of the engineering societies, the Chemical Engineering Society was founded in 1937. Yet, as may be seen from the large membership in the picture above, it is no puny weakling. Already plans are well under way for early affiliation with the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Like the older engineering societies, this organization holds regular meetings at which speakers explain the latest developments in that branch of the engineering field.

Second Row: Muenchinger, Buivid, Turner, Horne, Colliander, Stockard, Parker

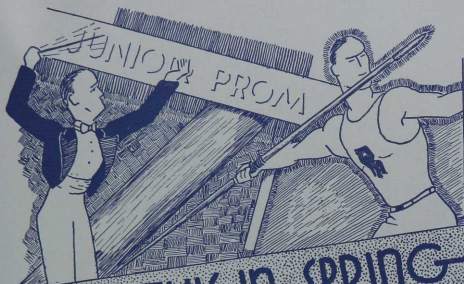

Established in 1935, with the advent of Professor Sikorsky and Dr. Alexander, the Aero Club has steadily grown in size and influence. Its membership consisted largely of engineers at first; but, due to the policy of furthering interest in aeronautics, a great many of the college's air-minded are now members.

From Agriculture, Science, Business, and Physical Education, these people gather to discuss ailerons, changeable pitch propellers, wing stress and airline development. Besides the Sikorsky lectures, features of this year's activity were the huge new wind tunnel and the delectable Sunday evening suppers provided by Mrs. Alexander.

RAMS WIN CONFERENCE BALL CROWN

The Rams of the baseball diamond in 1937, with one of the hardest schedules ever undertaken by a Rhode Island nine, compiled an enviable seasonal record of 16 victories as compared to four defeats.

With George Hines as its only regular hurler, the Rams swept by all opponents in league contests to capture the New England Baseball Conference Baseball championship in its first year of competition. Rhode Island rang up seven triumphs in the new league without suffering a single loss.

Rhode Island lost four games during the course of the season's play, but reversed the count with three of these opponents in return games. The Rams broke even with Brown University, Providence College, and Boston College. Holy Cross was the only team to boast a one-game advantage, the first game of the series being rained out and the Crusaders taking the second contest.

Irving Fay, in his first year of competition, had the best batting average on the team, but because of a stomach ailment was only able to play in seven games. Don Graham, playing a utility role throughout the season, was the actual batting leader for the Rhode Island team. Four Seniors were greatly responsible for the success of the team, Mel Entin, Bob Mudge, Johnnie Messina, and Eddie Fay. Mudge and Messina, two of the leading stickers, also had the best fielding averages among the regulars without an error being charged against them. Fay was probably the most polished ball player, and immediately following the close of the season, went into organized ball.

Hines, ringing up 11 triumphs, was the outstanding player on the team. He was also considered one of the outstanding hurlers in New England college circles. He appeared in 17 of the 20 games played by the Rams, being used as a relief pitcher in three of these games. Two of his three losses might be attributed to overwork. His performance came in the game with Connecticut State College when he held the Nutmeggers hitless and runless until two were out in the ninth inning.

RAMLETS, OUTHIT, OUTSCORE FOES

The 1937 freshman baseball nine won seven games in a nine-game schedule. The two games lost by the Ramlets were won by the Brown Freshmen and the Providence College Freshmen. The Ramlets turned the tables on the Bear Cubs in a second meeting. The team scored 60 runs while opposing nines scored 40 runs. Its batting average was .288 while that of the opponents was .198.

TRACKMEN TAKE NEW ENGLAND TITLE

Front Row: Folwarshtny, Hogg, Conley, Hines, Eckhart, Hibbitts, Andrews, Singen, Morrell

Fifth Row: Assistant Coach Erwin, Coach Tootell, Manager Orr, F. Barnes, Berry

THE outdoor track team brought another athletic title to Rhode Island when it captured the New England Intercollegiate track competition held at M. I. T., after completing an undefeated dual meet season. With a well-balanced and veteran crew, the Rams outscored all rivals by convincing margins. In the I. C. 4-A test held at Randall's Island, New York, Rhode Island, with a skeleton force, took sixth place after giving the stiffest kind of opposition to the leading colleges and universities in the country.

The Tootell-men opened their schedule with the Bears of Brown University, the Rams scoring a decisive triumph in a contest that pre-meet opinion said would be very close. Rhode Island swept five events: the mile, two-mile, 220-yard dash, the hammer throw, and discus. Dana Conley and Stan Holt were double winners.

The Rams met three New York teams during the course of the season. St. John's found the going too fast, the Rhode Islanders taking every first place but one. Their neighboring rivals, Brooklyn College, were overwhelmed, too, by a nearly identical score. The third metropolitan team was Manhattan College, one of the foremost track schools in the country. Before the season began, the Rams were accorded but little chance of turning back the formidable Jaspers. Rhode Island, however, continued its dual meet domination by winning convincingly. Competition was close, and many new marks were set up as a result. Irving Folwartshny, Len Hibbits, and Conley were double winners for Rhode Island, and Lou Burns was the only Jasper repeater.

Connecticut State's Nutmeggers also fell by the wayside by a top-heavy count, although Tootell withdrew many of his leading men in order to prepare for the Harvard Relays the following day.

Competing in five events at the Relays with nine men entered, the Rhode Island forces took three first places and two seconds, as every man figured in the scoring. Ed Singen won the vault, Holt captured the mile, Folwartshny won and Jim Brown placed as second in the hammer, Bill Rowe led the field in the discus, and the mile-relay outfit of Conley, Frank Lord, Carle Morrill, and John Hines came in second.

In the New England Intercollegiates Rhode Island faced this section's leading schools, but its well-balanced strength was too much for the opposition. Folwartshny, Holt, Conley, Hibbits, Singen, and Bill Eckhart were point-winners.

Four Rams did all the scoring for Rhode Island in the I. C. 4-A test. Bill Rowe was the leading point-getter with a first in the discus and a third in the hammer. Folwartshny won the hammer, Holt, running against stiff competition, ran a splendid race to take third in the half-mile; and Ed Singen took a tie in the pole vault.

TRACK MAINSTAYS ARE SENIORS

In the annals of Ram sports, the class of 1938 stands forth as predominately a "track" class. For it is in this department that senior athletes have shown brightest, contributing nearly a score of lettermen in the three track seasons.

In Outdoor Track, one of the most prominent is "Shorty" Folwartshny, national titlist who ends his third year of varsity competition in June. He is closely followed by Singen, Eckhart, Conley, Hogg, Hines, Johnson, Morrill, Richardson, and Tashjian.

Edwin Singen

YEARLING TRACKMEN BLANKET FOES

The Rhode Island Freshman track team kept pace with the varsity in the spring of 1937 by also compiling an undefeated record. The Ramlets swept by six opponents in marking up its unblemished slate, and its closest meet was the last of the season against the Connecticut State Freshman team.

The first-year men opened against Westerly high, and the schoolboys were smothered under a top-heavy score as they were only able to score four points. The Bruin Cubs were among the teams defeated, the Ramlets winning this meet rather handily, too.

Several promising athletes wore the freshman track uniforms last spring, and their presence on the varsity should be of considerable help in the next few years.

TENNIS BOOMS AS VARSITY SPORT

Varsity tennis, still in its infancy as a recognized sport at Rhode Island, compiled an excellent record of six wins in eight starts against intercollegiate opposition. The team won five straight matches before Brown University set it back for the first time by a 6 to 3 count. The other match was lost to Brooklyn College by 5 to 4 in the first game of a two-day road trip through New York.

"BUYERS BEWARE" SCORES AS '38 REVIEW

To the tinkling of piano keys, to the slap tap of neat dances, to the singing of new songs, to the yelling of the director, comes to Rhody, the Revue. This show offers every student an opportunity to put in his bid for honors of one type or another. It combines the best of all types of showmanship. The students write the show, the music, the lyrics; the students direct the show; the students act in the show; and the students put the show over by publicizing it, by arranging a program, by selling tickets, by staging, and by costuming it.

How did it begin? At a Phi Delta meeting back in the early autumn of 1936, Len Looby suggested a musical show. Because he suggested it, and because he was a capable and interested lad he was appointed chairman of a committee to delve into details. A meeting was held and progress was begun. Ballinger and Looby collaborated to write the script, MacDonald and Ballinger wrote the music and lyrics, and Carragher, who began as a coach, developed into the general manager and director. Marjorie Dunn took care of the costumes, Lucas and Rosenvik came through with stage settings, Woodbury with publicity, and Mrs. Russell with dances . . . It couldn't fail, and it didn't.

This year . . . A better show by Ballinger, better dances by Dottie Davis, better music by MacDonald and Ballinger, better technical directions by Dunham, better costumes by Marjorie Dunn, better staging by Lucas, Hazard and Young, and better producing and managing by Carragher . . . It had to be a hit, and it was.

PLAYERS FETE SHAKESPEARE

GROWN up in the last few years, is the institution of a week in April devoted to Shakespeare. The Rhode Island State College Players have nurtured this tradition by each year presenting several of this author's classics. This year custom was varied somewhat with the presentation of the "House of Seven Gables" as the first of the three plays of this week. This play was followed by "The Merchant of Venice," first of the two Shakespeare presentations. Repeating the success of last year was the alumni presentation of "The Taming of the Shrew," for the final production of the week.

Leap Year comes only once in four years. Women here observe that same custom every year by inviting their partners to the Pan-Hellenic Dance. Held under the auspices of the Pan-Hellenic Association, this spring formal brings out a large number of co-ed Greeks and their male guests.

Much sport for both sides is afforded by this turning of the tables—for the men, the girls' idea of "asking"; and, for the women, the stewing and fuming of the hopeful men.

PROM ADDS SWANK TO COLLEGE LIFE

Big. That's what the Junior Prom is in the plans of all the socially-minded. Each year a name band comes to town and the college departs in a body for the Biltmore. In past years, Juniors have offered Ozzie Nelson, the Dorsey Brothers, Ray Noble, and Hal Kemp; and for the past two years a queen has been voted by the class and awarded a cup.

This year these people listed below added number five to the string of successes, when they held their Prom at the Biltmore in Providence, May 3, 1938.

FROSH MAKE BOW AT BANQUET

By this time the Freshmen were ready to make their debut. For ten long months they had been grooming for a place in the collegiate sun, along with their upperclass friends. True, they had sent out teams, sponsored projects, and appeared at dances; but this was their first concentrated class action. At this Freshmen Banquet they emerged from the chrysalis of the first year as full fledged sons and daughters of Rhody. Class leaders had been developed, and the flashy popularity people had commenced to wane. We could now obtain a real idea of the yearlings' great. Watch these people for the Sachems of 1941.

DEBATERS HOLD MODEL CONGRESS

Drawing representatives from a dozen colleges of New England and nearby states, the second Model Congress was sponsored by the debate organizations on April 7th and 8th. Originated as an adjunct of the annual Tau Kappa Alpha convention, this year's meeting was run independently by members of the Portia Club and The Wranglers.

The Model Congress is planned to stimulate interest in current national events, an interest cloaked in the forms of debating practice. This two-fold aim was well-served by the plan of the session which included a banquet featuring an after-dinner speech contest, a luncheon, and sessions of both houses of Congress. On the agenda of the Congressional sessions were the reports of various standing committees, which were each handled by one of the colleges, pro and con.

PHI KAP REWARDS CRACK STUDENTS

To climax four years of excellent scholarship the Phi Kappa Phi society offers to twenty per cent or less of the students of the senior class, membership in its organization. It is the highest scholastic honor obtainable at Rhode Island and is an enviable goal for the ambitious scholar.

At two periods of the year, Phi Kappa Phi votes students into membership. The first election comes in the fall of the senior year at which time those students who have an extremely high average for their first three years are selected. The second election comes in the spring and gives those people who spurt in their senior year an opportunity of making the society.

The golden key which is Phi Kappa Phi represents high scholarship primarily, but combined with this it also represents a high moral character, and co-operation.

SACHEMS REWARDS THE AMBITIOUS

In this organization is embodied the crystallized ambition of the student interested in extra-curricular activities. It is this body which represents the ultimate goal for many underclassmen, but only fifteen members of the junior class are selected, through a point system based on activities and scholarship, to hold office in this group during their senior year.

This past year has marked a busy year for this membership. Its activities of the year began with class elections in which there was cast the largest number of votes ever recorded in a class poll. Closely following this came Homecoming Day which chalked up a record in showmanship, as all of the fraternities tried to outdo one another in decorations. The next major event which stirred the Sachems was the mayoralty campaign in which one of their own members was elected to the office of Mayor of Kingston and treated to an Inaugural Dance. The Faculty Ball, recorded in the history of the college as the only dance to ever be held in Green Hall, came along in order, to be followed by the Freshman class elections, and a blowout by the Sachems in the spring.

The Sachems form a Freshman Tribunal to care for the violators of freshman rules, budget class expenditures, and attend to any matters which arise during the school year regarding the activity of the students, as well as meet with the faculty and alumni representatives to discuss intelligently the problems of the college and plan suitable actions.

SCABBARD AND BLADE IS ROTC PRIZE

In the military organization of the college, the honorary society is the national organization of Scabbard and Blade. This society is open to all juniors in the spring of their junior year, and during the entire year it is made up of the senior class.

The most important function of this group is the sponsorship of the Military Ball at which dance the new members are tapped, and the co-ed colonel is announced.

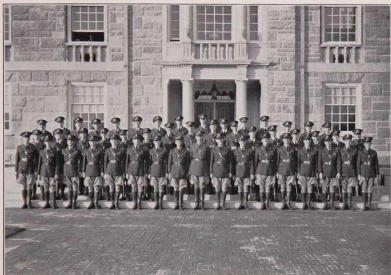

The organization also holds an annual banquet to which all of the officer personnel is invited. This dinner, which is attended in uniform, is one of the best banquets of the college year. It has the typical qualities of all the military functions, ceremonious enough to be impressive, but unceremonious enough to be fun.

Most outstanding member of Company H, the local chapter, is Major Richard Mathews Sandusky, who this year ends his tour of duty at Rhode Island State College. Prominent in many activities other than the military, he succeeded in retaining the rating of excellent for the college unit and attained his majority. But more than this was the esteem and respect he merited from all who knew him. Special tribute was paid this "fellow graduate" at the Scabbard and Blade banquet — more eloquent by far is the feeling of real personal pride in having known this officer and gentleman that his associates will always cherish.

Listing on its rolls all men of the college who have earned letters, the R. I. Club gives tangible organization to those proficient in sport. This is not a do-nothing club — a sort of all-inclusive honorary for athletes; they actually promote several projects. To obtain money, the club holds the refreshment concession at all sporting events of the college, and sponsors several of the Saturday night dances in the gym. An annual banquet is held in spring. This year a precedent was established with the holding of a semi-formal dance for the members in the Lambda Chi Alpha house.

For high ranking biologists Phi Sigma represents a milestone of acclaim and reward. Prime requisite is superior scientific ability as shown by four semesters of honor work in biology. But this is not just a group of scientific pundits, for character and personality must also be considered of the applicants.

Monthly meetings with guest speakers, the annual exhibit, and The Cell, biological paper, are the means used by the local chapter to foster biological interest among students here.

DEBATERS FIND T. K. A. GOAL FOR MERIT

Woodbury, Hornby, Carragher, Smith, Mason, Livingstone

The elect of forensics are represented by this group. Upon election to this group, the differences of the sexes fostered by the annual freshmen debates between the women and the men are put away, at least for the purposes of debate. And that these people are ranking debaters no one can deny, for varsity debating is the chief prerequisite to membership.

Feature of this group's activity is the annual convention of New England Chapters held here for the past four years. And outstanding in campus attractions for the past two years has been the Model Session of Congress managed by the local chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, and open to debate organizations in New York and New England Colleges.

WOMEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Most important single group, from the feminine viewpoint, is the Woman's Student Government Association. For these women regulate the "comings in and goings forth" of the entire coed population. Under this association and its adviser, Dean Helen E. Peck, efficient machinery has been set up for coed self-government. Rules are prescribed, and offenders punished — all with the cheerful cooperation of every woman. It is a fine example of what students can do on their own responsibility with a modicum of faculty control.

STRUT CLIMAXES SENIOR LIFE

Most exclusive of all college dances is the Senior Strut. The chosen few are seniors and their guests. This pre-commencement function caps the climax on undergraduate activity. Exams completed, Seniors have a week to while away before the official termination of college life. High light in this week of pier, prayer and play, is this spree of the seniors, by the seniors, and for the seniors.

JUNIOR FETE SENIORS AT BALL

In honor of their recently attained status of graduates, the Commencement Ball annually fetes the departing seniors. The Junior Class runs this dance in the gym on the night of Commencement Day.

With Classes and books forgotten, the two upper classes frolic late in the last function of the college year. The Juniors, well-pleased at becoming seniors, and the seniors, in a last fling at college life, mix gaily in what is perhaps the most thoroughly enjoyable dance of the college year. Attendance is by invitation only, limiting the celebrants to members of these two classes and their guests.

FROM THE NEW YORK SUN

New York, June 1, 1948—Your scribe succumbs to the faint nostalgia of college days ten years past with this day's effort. Some days ago we met up with an old classmate as we ducked into the Astor for a quick nip before returning home to sup out with our lady. A cheery hale from midships of the long mahogany plank startled the quiescent reverie of one homeward bound, consigned to the ordeal of dining out. Vaguely familiar was the speaker, so we ambled down the line warily and fearful of some barfly's new racket. Then with a rush we remembered. A fellow-Sachem, honor man and undying friend of ten years ago. He had grown leaner and grayer with the years. Remembrance of a receding hairline paled into insignificance beside that polished pate.

"Hello, Al," we exclaimed at last. For Marsiglia was one of that band of 210 that shoved off into the swirling maelstrom of '38 with your scribe. One of the advance guard, he poled out of Kingston and the shelter of Rhode Island State College in early spring, bound for South America. He was not a fugitive from justice—just a novice accountant for an oil company. That he had returned to their offices here, we had long known.

Ten years ago we had sworn eternal fealty over a plate of Giro's best spaghetti. We renewed that pledge. And as is the wont of old grads we were soon dreamily reminiscing of the "good old days." We Potentate Conley, class president, best all around, best athlete—winner of four "mosts" headed the list. Starting as a model for their collar ads, he had now become Arrow sales manager for southern New England. Best customer is Christy, "most likely to succeed" in 1938. This jolly runner-up buys Conley's surplus for the needy in his ward. Besides "oiling the machine," our colleague is sports editor of a new Providence daily, rapidly exting up the two mossy standbys of our youth. He heads the backers of the Hines Brothers' summer camp for needy ragamuffins. Brother George, of course, spending his summers with the Red Sox, lends prestige with his name. "Most respected" Joe Scott now tends injured footballers, replacing Doc Potter, and is the newly elected Moderator of South Kingstown. Opposing him was South County's lumber tycoon, Bill McKenna. "Smoothest" a decade ago but with increased girth today, Bill and Grace now lead the smart set, and Bill, Jr. leads the youngest set, with his "healthiest baby" award at the Kingston Fair.

Leading the "most" column for the fair sex in those days was Ruth Jerrett, now dividing her time between her own four and the well-being of the 400 in Howard. Ruth's soprano still rings out of a Sunday over the rest of the church choir. That "most dependable" Phi Kap, Nell Williams is a crack auditor with Spaulding and Company. She organized the women of that company's local staff to form a hockey team as the start of the working girls' league. Field hockey recalls another coed athletic ace, Janet Potter. Soon after graduation she entered into partnership to produce the all-time championship basketball team. The first team is progressing well, but substitutes the chief problem of the moment. But they expect to solve this difficulty.

That class has one good claim to fame through the antics of Franny Woods, cut-up of the younger social set here. Combining the traits of "most collegiate" and "biggest society lady" has brought reams of press clippings. Indeed, she is credited as the original of the current anecdote about the young innocent who walked into the bank, loaded her arms with money and said to the amazed teller, "That's all right. My husband is the new cashier."

Class optimist, Bill Krohn, was well selected. Recently elected State's Attorney, he's trying to clean up Chicago. His fellow all-nighter, Dean Carragher, who once joined him in three bsides weeks, is the neophyte Earl Carroll who has so startled the critics. As pictured in Sunday's roto-gravure, he was surrounded with a bevy of native belles gathering local color for his forthcoming South Sea Island show. While Margie Dunn, another of that weird crew, is coining it with her "Mademoiselle Moderne" shoppes in Providence, Newport, and Miami. Another Gristman, Will David, is chief surgeon of the Davidson Clinic, Rockefeller entry in the new medical development. Phyl Mahler (called 'Czarina' even in campus days) first interested the Rockefellers in this project, now heads the lab staff. Most vociferous critic of this movement is Bull Turner, who succeeded Dr. Fishbein on the A. M. A. Journal.

BITS ABOUT 'EM

Frank Ryan heads that dressy crew of super lifeguards featured in recent Miami newsreels . . . turned chem prof, Ormondroyd did get Captain Kullman's son in class . . . "I just started out," was Dave Livingstone's comment on his return from an around-the-world hitch-hike . . . he's on his way to take over the consulate at Timbuktu now . . . Rinoski runs a New London delivery service . . . Macdonald is the Macdonald, leader of the Rainbow Room's feature band . . . Member of the Army engineer board for the transcontinental military highway is Bill Donaldson . . . Art DeCesare is one of the civilians on the same project . . . Polly Congdon "prefers Camels" on Vogue covers this month . . . S. A. E.'s popular traveling secretary is Wally Hastie . . . we're going to miss our daily "Ozzie Owl" comic strip if they don't find Ed Kent, lost on a hunt for the rare Mesopotamian Briar, pretty soon . . . the "Philippa" of those dressy Vogue numbers is our old friend, Ruthie Pick . . . Ed Arnold cleaned up as sales manager for Pontiac's Indian Herb Compound, the super-remedy (before it in turned was cleaned up) . . . "Bringing up Five in a Trailer" is the title of the best-seller by Edna Oliveria . . . the Cranston anti-vice crusade was pushed by Mayor Richardson . . . Kay Campbell is that millinery model and magazine cover girl . . . Lil Atkinson sailed to England the other day with the All-American Hockey squad.

On his way to West Point to lecture on Thermodynamics, Harry G. Woodbury passed through town yesterday (he's been with the Army since he passed the Thomassan Act physical in '38, is now a captain) . . . the new army amphibian tanks were designed by John Stene and promoted by John Greene with his automotive distribution corporation . . . Walt Doll brainy M.E. designs more of 'em for Mr. Ford to 'watch the Fords go by' . . . Statistician for Metropolitan Life, Edie Caplin is an authority on the national income and the cost of living . . . Pattee now dictates those notes-to-himself to a secretary.

Track coach at Bowdoin, Shorty Folwarshtny (et ux.) combines the best Maine and R. I. practices on his champ potato-farm . . . Jim Masterson pulls gamins' teeth free at his clinic in Washington but really soils the senators . . . Anita Tucker grows all those white rats for the Cooper Foundation on her Illinois stud farm . . . she has a first rate chrysanthemum culture, too. . . That gigantic New England co-op market is the brain-child of Dave Warren, coupled with the technical help of Louis Gordon . . . Tenth vice-president Karison of the Industrial Trust is coming up fast (remember Salarchuk) . . . Fales sports a fresh lapel flower twice daily now that he is the head floor-walker at Saks . . . no 'career' for Nat Brown, "most brilliant" coed, for her oldest, a boy, won the second grade blue ribbon last week.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The 1938 Grist has become a reality only through the willing cooperation of a great many people, for this is a book of and by a great many people. The board is greatly indebted to the entire faculty and student body for their faithful, ready help and cooperation in the many different phases of the production of this book. Outstanding was the special assistance of the following:

Dr. Raymond G. Bressler, for general counsel and guidance.

Dr. Harold W. Browning, Faculty Adviser, for patient and ready guidance.

Mr. George E. Brooks, Class Adviser, for general counsel.

Miss Helen E. Peck, for help in phraseology and English.

Mrs. Josephine L. Russell.

Mr. William G. Mokray, for layout and photographic help.

Mr. Stephen A. Greene, for the Providence Journal — Evening Bulletin photographs used on pages 201, 202, and 241; and for the Tribune photograph of Coach Keaney appearing on page 207.

Mr. Robert Lucas, for artwork on the division pages.

Mr. Richard Kingerley, for photographic help.

Miss Magdalen Colston and Miss Gertrude Toth, for secretarial help.
